MAY SEPARATE OFFICE FROM WHITE HOUSE

Congress Favors Action As Result of Tuesday's Disastrous Blaze.

By GEORGE E. DURNIO
(L. N. S. Staff Correspondent)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 26.—As a direct result of Tuesday night's disastrous fire at the White House,
a strong demand developed in Congress today for the erection of a new, and totally divorced executive office.

Rep. Fred A. Britten (R) of Ill., and Royal S. Johnson (R) of South Dakota, were among the leaders in the movement for a separate building for the presidential office staff, and they were joined by a number of other prominent Republican members.

It appeared that the Christmas Eve fire which ruined the west wing of the White House had given a real impetus to the proposal
that a new structure, located adjacent to, but apart from the main dwelling of the presidential family, be built. The holidays had taken many members of congress
back to their homes, but those who could be reached concurred
in the idea that number 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue should be a residence only.

HOOVER SILENT
President Hoover viewed all this discussion meanwhile without comment. For the next three or four days he will use the Lincoln study, one removed from the end room of the upper floor in the east wing, as an office. In the end room he plans to lodge his personal stenographers and clerks.
George Akerson, secretary to the president, will hold forth in the corridor, using the Lincoln cabinet table as a desk. Walter Newton and Lawrence Richey, the other two secretaries, temporarily
will use the two rooms opposite.
The first of next week, Mr.
Hoover will move into the office
of General John J. Pershing—a little-used suite—in the state and war department, just across the street.

A readjustment of office space will permit the more necessary of his staff to follow him. In the meantime, the basement floor of the executive office was being dried out to permit occupancy by the general staff. The east room was turned over to reporters and photographers for a temporary press room. This meant a temporary closing of the White House to visitors, and also presaged a material reduction in the number of engagements the president can keep during the rest of the week.

"In my opinion," said Johnson,
"the home and the office ought to be divorced. I favor immediate construction of a close-by building to house the staff."

NAME LOCATION
Both agreed an ideal location
could be on Jackson Place, half a block removed from the White House. The government owns all the property on the short street—
now occupied by old-fashioned residences converted into office buildings and condemnation proceedings
could be instituted immediately.

They favored a handsome structure with floor space adequate to care for an even larger corps of clerks than President Hoover has gathered. The latter, upon his installation in office, spent $65-$700 in renovating the basement floor of the west wing so as to care for the trebled staff.

Secretary Akerson, although non-committal on the subject, admitted that "within the next four or five years such a building
would have to be seriously considered."

Rep. Ed Hull (R) of Peoria, Ill., was another who endorsed the proposal.

POST OFFICE HANDLES 40 PER CENT MORE BUSINESS

Circleville's post office handled approximately 40 per cent more business during the rush this holiday season than it did a year ago,
according to an announcement by George P. Foresman, postmaster, Thursday.

Mr. Foresman estimates that over 100,000 2-cent stamps were sold not including those used on parcel post packages. Approximately 3,000 sacks of mail weighing an aggregate of 100,000 pounds were handled from Dec. 16 until Dec. 24, the last day of the rush. Somewhere over 125,000 greeting cards and over 5,000
letters were handled between these two dates.

Four substitute carriers were called with one extra clerk to handle the rush. Employees averaged 12 hours daily including Sunday with one extra truck being used for the delivery of parcel post packages.

While heavy snow more or less retarded delivery in rural districts, only a very small portion of the Christmas mail remained to be delivered Thursday.

The post office should be highly commended for its fine, efficient work during the holiday rush.

MRS. ATER, 61, IS SUMMONED

Prominent Dearcreek-Twp.
Woman Taken After Illness of Three Weeks.

Mrs. Rosella Ater, aged 61, prominent Dearcreek-Twp. woman,
died of complications at her home
at 9 p. m. Tuesday after an illness of two weeks.

She was the daughter of Thomas and Rebecca Ater, and was born in Dearcreek-Twp. May 9, 1868. On Sept. 16, 1888, she was married to Stephen Ater who survives here.

She also survived by one sister,
Mrs. Jane Arnold, Washington, C. H.

She was a member of the Christian church of Clarksburg.

Funeral services will be held
from the late home Friday at 1
p. m. with Rev. R. F. Maxie, New Holland, officiating, with burial
in the New Holland cemetery by C. E. Hill, Williamsport, funeral director.

MAIL PILOT BADLY HURT

Tom Hill Loses Way In Snow-Storm Then Chashes In Muddy Lowland.

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind., Dec. 26.
After losing his way in a snowstorm and crashing his plane in a muddy lowland while flying from Chicago to Detroit, Air Mail Pilot Thomas J. Hill today is in serious condition from injuries received in the fall.

Hill's plane, loaded with seven bags of mail was demolished and the pilot was pinned in the cockpit. Although he dropped several landing flares, Hill was unable to make out the terrain beneath him
and landed in the swampy farm field which tossed the plane over on its nose.

Girl Falls to Death Rushing to See Gifts

Eagerness to see what the Christmas season had brought her
caused the death of Lois A.
Dewey, aged 17, daughter of Mr.
and Mrs. Frank Dewey, of Lattaville, near Chillicothe, Wednes-
day.

The girl rushed out of her bedroom at about 7 a. m. and when
her foot caught on the carpet
plunged down the long flight of
stairs at her home. She was rendered unconscious and died at 1:15
p. m. of internal injuries without
even getting to see her Christmas
presents, the cause of her haste.

She is survived by four brothers and one sister.

Funeral services will be held
Saturday at 2 p. m. at the Latta-
ville Methodist church with Rev.
Rinehart officiating. Burial will be in charge of Metzger and Fisher, of Williamsport.

NURSES AVERT HOSPITAL FIRE

Dr. Milton Shaw, Chief of Staff, Expected To Die
From Deadly Fumes.

LANSING, Mich., Dec. 26.—A
doctor, five nurses, three fire officials and an orderly whose brave-
ry and level-headedness averted
a Christmas night disaster in Edward W. Sparrow hospital are suffering today from deadly fumes
generated by burning X-ray films
in the hospital's basement.

Nurses, doctors and firemen,
realizing the danger of the deadly gasses reached patient, risked
their own lives as they quietly
went up and down corridors closing the steel doors to hospital
wards and private rooms.

Dr. Milton Shaw, chief of staff
of St. Lawrence hospital, a visitor at the Sparrow hospital when
the X-ray films stated to smoul-
der early Christmas night, is expected to die, it was reported.

Investigations by the fire department and the hospital staff
are under way.

The burning films gave forth
little fire, but much smoke and
gas. The gas generated were reported to be similar to the death-
dealing vapors in the Cleveland
clinic disaster.

Sharp Controversy Between
Borah and Mitchell May

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26.—
Sweeping reorganization of the
entire prohibition enforcement
machinery, including the appropriation of more money for the federal dry army, was seen today
as a direct result of the controversy between Sen. Borah (R) of Idaho and Attorney-General
Mitchell over the progress being
made in drying up the nation.

Dry leaders in and out of Congress were shocked as the full
force of the Borah declaration
that prohibition can never be enforced with the present personnel.

Attorney-General Mitchell and Prohibition Commissioner Doran,
fearing a breakdown of the morale of the federal enforcement personnel under the attack, struck
back with the declaration that
their loyal army of agents is making headway in the face of many handicaps.

AMANDA GARAGE IS ROBBED OF PARTS

The Herbert Young garage at Amanda was robbed Monday night
for the second time in a week.
About $50 worth of supplies for a
Ford car were stolen.

Entrance was gained by breaking a glass out of a rear window.
About $10 in cash was taken
from the Young garage last week
when thieves broke into eight
places in Amanda.

INSURANCE AGENTS TO HAVE MEETING

Firemen, Deputy Sheriffs Enjoy Turkey Dinner

The annual turkey dinner given
by the deputies of the sheriff's office, John Ward, Jr., Carl Porter
and Miller Fissell for the employees of the fire department was
held Tuesday evening in the rear
of the large room of the engine
house. Here the table had been laid, and decorated with three
small cedar trees and evergreen.

The 14-pound turkey was roasted by Clinton C. Strawser and
was said to be done to a turn.
With it had been prepared every conceivable vegetable and article
of a real Christmas menu. The chief was also called upon to carve
the bird, and he was assisted by Bob Wolfe, another member of the
department.

The guests seated around the
festive table were Chief Talmer
wise, John S. Baer, Tom Straw-
ser, Bob Wolfe, and Clinton
Strawser of the fire department,
Deputy Sheriffs John G. Ward,
Jr., Carl Porter and Miller Fissell,
Mayor B. T. Hodges, R. M. Leach,
Harry E. Well and Wallace Crist.

SNOOK APPEAL IS OVERRULED

Co-ed Slayer Has But Two
Legal Steps Left In Fight

(INS.)—Dr. James H. Snook, nervous co-ed slayer, who is under sentence to die in the electric chair at the Ohio State Penitentiary here Jan. 31, was officially informed today that the Ohio
Supreme court had overruled his
appeal for a new trial.

There remain only two other
legal steps which defense attorneys can take to save the life of
the ex-college professor, who beat
and knifed Miss Theora Hix, an Ohio State University medical
student to death. They can carry
the appeal to the U. S. Supreme court or file a motion for a rehearing with the Ohio Supreme court.

WITHOLD WORD

Although the verdict of the
state court was handed down
Christmas eve, Warden P. E.
Thomas refrained from telling the doomed murderer.

"There was no need of spoiling
the man's Christmas," said the
kindly warden.

It is probable, however, that Dr.
Snook knew of the verdict. His
wife, Mrs. Helen Marple Snook,
visited him in death row yesterday. If she did not tell him, it is possible that the "grape-vine
telegraph" informed him of the verdict. News travels fast in that colony of lost men.

Dr. Snook at the regular prison fare of roast pork for his Christmas dinner yesterday. Other inmates are allowed a special basket
of food from their folks. But the prisoners in death row are accorded no similar privileges.

CHARDON, O., Dec. 26

Defective wiring was today held responsible for a fire which broke out in a downtown business block
Christmas morning and caused
approximately $15,000 in damages.
The blaze started in the basement
of the Close store, causing considerable damage to the store and the meat market of Frank Sch-
agle and the dental office of Dr.
Fred Chapman.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Dec. 26

Funeral arrangements were being made here today for W. J. Sangison, philanthropist and former official of the Republic Iron & Steel
Co., who died suddenly yesterday
from heart trouble at the home of his son, W. J. Sangison, Jr., in Cleveland.

POLICE SEARCH FOR MOTIVE IN DUAL CHRISTMAS SLAYING

TOLEDO, O., Dec. 26.—(INS.)—
Police today looked to the mountain fastness of southern Tennessee for a possible solution to a double shooting here Christmas
eve.

Edward Shofner was shot and
killed in front of his home by Paul Smith, his friend, who then committed suicide.

Shofner and Smith came to Toledo seven years ago from southern Tennessee. They were good friends since that time and probably for many years prior to their residence in Toledo.

When Mrs. Shofner died last
May, Shofner and his son, Billy,
aged 9, accepted the hospitality of
the Smith home.

After trimming the Christmas tree in an upstairs room in preparation for the coming of Santa Claus the next morning, the two
men went downstairs.

Shofner flung himself from the
house, shouting over his shoulder,
"You can't talk to me like that."

Smith followed him to the street and begged Shofner to return.

Then Smith shot and killed
Shofner and committed suicide.

That is all that is known of the dual tragedy. No motive for an argument between the inseparable
friends is known. Police are puzzled.

They expressed several beliefs.
Smith may have preferred death
to both himself and Shofner than
have the friendship broken.

Long ago, when the men were mountaineers in the Tennessee
hills, there may have been a pact
sworn to that both would die together rather than have their friendship shattered. Perhaps, it

CITY ENJOYS FINE HOLIDAY

Official Weather At 29 Degrees Throughout Day—
Additional Snow.

Circleville had one of its most enjoyable Christmas in many years Wednesday.

The official temperature, according to Dr. H. R. Clarke, stood
at 29 degrees practically all day.
A pretty snow Christmas morning covered the heavy snow of the several previous days and gave
everything a new touch.

Although the streets were slippery and were traveled by num-
berless automobiles during the day
no accidents were reported Thursday.

No one was burned or injured
about a Christmas tree, nor was
any other misfortune reported
during the day.

LONDON, Dec. 26.—(INS.)—The terrible gales which swept the British Isles and the western coast of Spain yesterday taking a toll of at least 28 lives abated somewhat today but shipping was still endangered by strong winds and mountainous seas.

Twenty-six lives were lost when the Norwegian freighter Aslaug was pounded to pieces on the shoals of the Falmouths.

Two persons were killed and scores injured in the British Isles.
Shipping was disrupted and property damage was heavy.

London itself was hit. The rising waters of the Thames inundated low-lying districts of the city flooding many houses.

WORLD FLIER AT HEAD OF SOVIET TRIO

Government Answers Plea To
Find Lost Men.

MOSCOW, Dec. 26.—(INS.)—
In response to the appeals of Senator Borah of Idaho and the United States department of the interior, the Soviet government today was making every effort to aid in the search for Carl Ben Eielson and Earl Borland, the
fliers who have been missing off
the Siberian coast for more than six weeks.

Three of the Soviet's best planes
have been ordered to begin
search for the missing Americans.
Two of these are now at Providence
Bay, in Northeastern Siberia near Bering Strait.

The third plane, which will be piloted by Semyon Shestakov, is
at North Cape. Since his flight
to the United States, Shestakov
is regarded as Russia's best flier
and is in command of the rescue
expedition. He will use a plane
similar to the twin-motored mono-
plane in which he flew from Moscow to New York with three companions.

It is believed the Soviet government ordered the planes to join
the search for the missing fliers
rather than ice-breakers either because the ice is now too solid to
permit the use of the latter craft
or it would take too long for them
to reach the region where the Americans are believed to have come down.

OFFER REWARD
The Aviation Chemical Society
of Moscow has offered a reward
of 3,000 rubles to the Russian
fliers if they succeed in rescuing
Eielson and his companion.

The Soviet government will
make every effort to find Carl
Ben Eielson and Earl Borland,
American aviators lost in Arctic wastes of L'itvinoff, acting secretary of foreign affairs, cabled
Senator Borah (R) Idaho, today.

The cable of L'itvinoff was in answer to a direct appeal by Borah
for aid.

L'itvinoff informed Borah that
the steamer Stavropol, which Borah
asked because in rescue work,
is not an ice-breaker and therefore an aerial expedition will be sent.

The cablegram read:
"Stavropol is ordinary steamer
not an ice-breaker, is ice-bound
itself and in need of help. Stavropol has been instructed to send
out a dog-team expedition for the purpose of locating Eielson and Borland but due to damaged radio
it can receive but not send information."

"Soviet government organizing
within few days expedition by plane and 4 type 'Land of Soviets'
with Shestakov, recently returned
from America, as pilot. Two airplanes located at present at Bai
Providence, will also participate in
the search. Soviet government
will be happy if the purpose of the expedition will be successfully
achieved."

STAMBOUL, Turkey, Dec. 26.—
Grave fears were felt today for
the safety of eight passengers who
commercial plane which later sent out an S. O. S. and has not been heard from since.

The airplane was one of the
huge air transports operating regularly between Italy and Turkey.
Attempts to locate the plane
since the receipt of the S. O. S.
have been futile.

insurance man. Mrs. Asling died yesterday 11 days after the birth of her second child.

Girl Falls to Death Rushing to See Gifts

Eagerness to see what the Christmas season had brought her
caused the death of Lois A.
Dewey, aged 17, daughter of Mr.
and Mrs. Frank Dewey, of Latta-
ville, near Chillicothe, Wednes-
day.

The girl rushed out of her bedroom at about 7 a. m. and when
her foot caught on the carpet
plunged down the long flight of
stairs at her home. She was rendered unconscious and died at 1:15
p. m. of internal injuries without
presents, the cause of her haste.

She is survived by four brothers and one sister.

Funeral services will be held
Saturday at 2 p. m. at the Latta-
ville Methodist church with Rev.
Rinehart officiating. Burial will be in charge of Metzger and Fish-
er, of Williamsport.

NURSES AVERT HOSPITAL FIRE

LANSING, Mich., Dec. 26.—A
doctor, five nurses, three fire officials and an orderly whose brave-
ry and level-headedness averted
a Christmas night disaster in Edward W. Sparrow hospital are
suffering today from deadly fumes
generated by burning X-ray films
in the hospital's basement.

Nurses, doctors and firemen,
realizing the danger of the deadly gasses reached patient, risked
their own lives as they quietly
went up and down corridors clos-
wards and private rooms.

Dr. Milton Shaw, chief of staff
of St. Lawrence hospital, a visitor at the Sparrow hospital when
the X-ray films stated to smoul-
der early Christmas night, is expected to die, it was reported.

Investigations by the fire department and the hospital staff
are under way.

little fire, but much smoke and
gas. The gas generated was reported to be similar to the death-
dealing vapors in the Cleveland
clinic disaster.

Sweeping reorganization of the
entire prohibition enforcement
machinery including the appropriation of more money for the
federal dry army, was seen today
as a direct result of the controversy between Sen. Borah (R) of
Idaho and Attorney-General
Mitchell over the progress being
made in drying up the nation.

Dry leaders in and out of Congress were shocked as the full
force of the Borah declaration
that prohibition can never be en-

Attorney-General Mitchell and Prohibition Commissioner Doran,
fearing a breakdown of the mor-
ale of the federal enforcement personnel under the attack, struck
back with the declaration that
their loyal army of agents is mak-
handicaps.

The Herbert Young garage at Amanda was robbed Monday night
for the second time in a week.
About $50 worth of supplies for a
Ford car were stolen.

Entrance was gained by break-
ing a glass out of a rear window.
About $10 in cash was taken
from the Young garage last week
when thieves broke into eight
places in Amanda.

The annual turkey dinner given
office, John Ward, Jr., Carl Porter
and Miller Fissell for the employees of the fire department was
house. Here the table had been
laid, and decorated with three
small cedar trees and evergreen.

The 14-pound turkey was roast-
ed by Clinton C. Strawser and
was said to be done to a turn.
With it had been prepared every
conceivable vegetable and article
of a real Christmas menu. The chef was also called upon to carve
the bird, and he was assisted by
department.

The guests seated around the
festive table were Chief Talmer
wise, John S. Baer, Tom Straw-
ser, Bob Wolfe, and Clinton
Strawser of the fire department,
Deputy Sheriffs John G. Ward,
Carl Porter and Miller Fissell,
Mayor B. T. Hedges, R. M. Leach,
Harry E. Weill and Wallace Crist.

SNOOK APPEAL IS OVERRULED

Legal Steps Left In Fight

(INS.)—Dr. James H. Snook, the steel-nerved co-ed slayer, who is
under sentence to die in the electric chair at the Ohio State Penitentiary here Jan. 31, was officially informed today that the Ohio
appeal for a new trial.

There remain only two other
legal steps which defense attor-
the ex-college professor, who beat
student to death. They can carry
the appeal to the U. S. Supreme court or file a motion for a re-
hearing with the Ohio Supreme
court.

WITHHOLD WORD
Although the verdict of the
state court was handed down
Christmas eve, Warden P. E.
Thomas refrained from telling the
doomed murderer.

"There was no need of spoiling
the man's Christmas," said the
kindly warden.

It is probable, however, that Dr.
Snook knew of the verdict. His
wife, Mrs. Helen Marple Snook,
visited him in death row yester-
day. If she did not tell him, it is
telegram" informed him of the verdict. News travels fast in that
colony of lost men.

mas dinner yesterday. Other inmates are allowed a special basket
prisoners in death row are accorded no similar privileges.

CHARDON, O., Dec. 26.—Defective wiring was today held responsible for a fire which broke
out in a downtown business block
Christmas morning and caused
approximately $15,000 in damages.
The blaze started in the basement
of the Close store causing considerable damage there, destroyed
the meat market of Frank Schin-
agle and the dental office of Dr.
Fred Chapman.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Dec. 26.—
Funeral arrangements were being made here today for W. J. Sampson, philanthropist and former official of the Republic Iron & Steel
Co., who died suddenly yesterday
from heart trouble at the home of his son, W. J. Sampson, Jr., in Cleveland.

POLICE SEARCH FOR MOTIVE IN DUAL CHRISTMAS SLAYING

TOLEDO, O., Dec. 26.—(INS.)—
Police today looked to the mountain fastness of southern Tennessee for a possible solution to a
eve.

killed in front of his home by Paul
Smith, his friend, who then committed suicide.

Shofner and Smith came to Toledo seven years ago from southern Tennessee. They were good
friends since that time and probably for many years prior to their

When Mrs. Shofner died last
May, Shofner and his son, Billy,
aged 9, accepted the hospitality of
the Smith home.

After trimming the Christmas
tree in an upstairs room in preparation for the coming of Santa Claus the next morning, the two
men went downstairs.

Shofner flung himself from the
house, shouting over his shoulder,
"You can't talk to me like that."

street and begged Shofner to return.

Then Smith shot and killed
Shofner and committed suicide.

That is all that is known of the
argument between the inseparable
friends in known. Police are puzzled.

They expressed several beliefs.
Smith may have preferred death
to both himself and Shofner than
have the friendship broken.

Long ago, when the men were
mountaineers in the Tennessee
hills, there may have been a pact
sworn to that both would die together rather than have their

FINE HOLIDAY

Official Weather At 29 Degrees Throughout Day—
Additional Snow.

Circleville had one of its most
enjoyable Christmas' in many
years Wednesday.

The official temperature, according to Dr. H. R. Clarke, stood
at 29 degrees practically all day.
A pretty snow Christmas morning covered the heavy snow of the
several previous days and gave
everything a new touch.

Although the streets were slip-
pery and were traveled by num-
berless automobiles during the day
no accidents were reported Thurs-
day.

No one was burned or injured
about a Christmas tree, nor was
any other misfortune reported
during the day.

SNOOK JUDGE HAS INJURY

COLUMBUS, Dec. 26.—Judge
Henry L. Scarlett, who gained nationwide prominence as presiding judge at the trial of Dr. James Howard Snook, one of the most sordid dramas in the history of an American courtroom, is confined to his home today with a broken knee-cap.

It is the second time in the last three months that the jurist has been thus injured. He fell and broke his knee cap at the Athletic club recently.

Government Answers Plea To

MOSCOW, Dec. 26.—(INS.)—
In response to the appeals of Senator Borah of Idaho and the United States department of the interior, the Soviet government today was making every effort to
Eielson and Earl Borland, the
fliers who have been missing off
the Siberian coast for more than
six weeks.

have been ordered to begin
search for the missing Americans.
Two of these are now at Providence Bay, in Northeastern Siberia near Bering Strait.

The third plane, which will be
piloted by Semyon Shestakov, is
at North Cape. Since his flight
to the United States, Shestakov
is regarded as Russia's best flier
and is in command of the rescue
expedition. He will use a plane
similar to the twin-motored mono-
plane in which he flew from Moscow to New York with three companions.

It is believed the Soviet government ordered the planes to join
rather than ice-breakers either be-
cause the ice is now too solid to
permit the use of the latter craft
or it would take too long for them
to reach the region where the Americans are believed to have

The Aviation Chemical Society
of Moscow has offered a reward
of 3,000 rubles to the Russian
fliers if they succeed in rescuing
Eielson and his companion.

The Soviet government will
Ben Eielson and Earl Borland,
American aviators lost in Arctic wastes, M. Litvinoff, acting secretary of foreign affairs, cabled
Senator Borah (R) Idaho, today.

The cable of Litvinoff was in answer to a direct appeal by Borah
for aid.

Litvinoff informed Borah that
the steamer Stavropol, which Borah
asked because in rescue work,
is not an ice-breaker and there-
sent.

The cablegram read:
"Stavropol is ordinary steamer
not an ice-breaker, is ice-bound
itself and in need of help. Stav-
ropol has been instructed to send
out a dog-team expedition for the
purpose of locating Eielson and Borland but due to damaged radio
it can receive but not send information."

"Soviet government organizing
within few days expedition by plane anti-4 type 'Land of Soviets'
with Shestakov, recently returned
from America, as pilot. Two air-
planes located at present at Bai
Providence, will also participate in
the search. Soviet government
will be happy if the purpose of the
expedition will be successfully
achieved."

STAMBOUL, Turkey, Dec. 26.—
Grave fears were felt today for
commercial plane which later sent
out an S. O. S. and has not been
heard from since.

The airplane was one of the
huge air transports operating regularly between Italy and Turkey.
Attempts to locate the plane
since the receipt of the S. O. S.
have been futile.

Bliss College Hands Club Tossers Defeat

CURLEY GRIFFIN'S PICKUPS STAGE RALLY, WIN 35 TO 28

A combination of professional basketball players, coaches, business men, college stars and a sandlot basketball player playing under one name—Bliss College—banded the Circleville Athletic Club tossers their first defeat of the season Christmas night in one of the most hectic games played here for a long while. The score was 35-28.

The first trouble of the evening was an accident in which two Bliss players were slightly injured before the team got out of Columbus. That necessitated a hurried telephone call, a rush for extra players to make the trip. And oh, what a rush for players that was. Coach Curley Griffin of the collegians turned in just one direction. That was toward Bob Shea, sweet basketball player, but the nemesis of every man he has ever played against.

Between holding, pushing, slapping, roughing, over-charging, tripping and in fact every known way—and ways known to Shea alone—that a man can foul an opponent were employed in short order.

There came another catch to the contest. Bliss came here with only five men. The rules of the club are that all basketball games be played with amateur rules which expels a man from a contest on four personal fouls. Well, to make matters short it didn't take Shea long to commit four fouls (no one knows how many more) and the necessary thing was to put him out of the game. That caused wrangling. The Bliss team finished the first half with four men.

The game after this was cleanly played, however, when A. Beatty, a member of the Darbyville team which had played a preliminary early in the evening, donned a uniform.

As usual, the game started fast and with everyone on both teams contributing to the scoring. Gordon led the club in the opening session with Shea and all his known tricks of the trade were very much in evidence. The opening period ended 8 to 7 with the club on the seven end.

Columbus scored an additional eight points in the second period while the Clubmen were getting six. The half ended 16 to 13 in favor of Bliss.

In the third period with the mighty Shea out of the game, the club came to life for a while to score six field goals while Bliss was getting but three. The club took a lead when White followed a shot to make the score 23-22 but this lead was short, however, when Curley Griffin started hitting from the center.

The third period ended 25-22 in favor of the club.

FOURTH PERIOD FATAL

Then came the fatal fourth period. Members of the club team missed shot after shot, from in front of the net, from the sides, from the corners, in from every spot on the court. White's follow shot and Merriman's free

Gloves Long Worn

The origin of the glove dates back to antiquity, since they were known in prehistoric times to the cave dwellers, says Parthian Magazine. The ancient Egyptians wore them and the Greeks appropriated the custom from them. Mittens are among the dress accessories found with mummies of priestesses dating from the twenty-first dynasty of Egypt. They were of the same material as the upper garment.

Old Legend of the Sea

The Flying Dutchman was a Dutch sea captain named Van Strauten, who was condemned to sail the high seas in a spectral ship. The sight of this ship was regarded as a bad omen by sailors. Similar legends are current in Germany and England. Originally it is related that the captain was delayed by head winds while trying to turn the Cape of Good Hope and swore blasphemously that he would beat around it if it took him until judgment day.

Not All Peoples Wear Gloves

The early custom of wearing gloves is mostly confined to Continental Europe. In China the long sleeved robes made gloves unnecessary and so they were unknown, but in Japan hunters and archers found them most convenient. Among the American Indians only the Eskimos are known to have worn gloves. They have not been found among the African tribes. In fact, gloves are not traceable to the tropics.

Tarantula Not Deadly

The bite of a tarantula is poisonous, but not as dangerous to humans as is formerly believed. It used to be supposed that its bite was fatal, but various experiments have found that it usually causes, at most, several days' pain and discomfort.

TIGHT DEFENSE GIVES FLYING CLOUDS GAME

Grantmen Hold Ashville To Two Fouls, Take Game By 32-2 Score.

Using a tight man-to-man defense, the Grant Flying Clouds held the Ashville Jr. O. U. A. M. to two foul goals Christmas night in a prelude to the C. A. C. Bliss game and won their contest 32 to 2.

Ashville scored but two, foul goals in the entire game one coming in the first period and the other in the second. They went scoreless all throughout the second half.

The Clouds started in faststyle, and with Joe Glitt scoring all the points on three field goals, held a lead of six to one at the end of the opening period. Shook's foul goal was the Ashville quota. In the second period, goals by Phillips, Glitt and Weiler and a foul by Maloney gave the Clouds a lead of 13-2 at halftime. A charity toss by Cloud was the Ashville score in this period.

From that time on it was all Flying Clouds, with the Junior Order team having nary a look-in. Weiler led the Grant scoring in the second half with four field goals.

The Ashville team played its first game and although it didn't show much form will develop into a mighty classy amateur team before they have played many games. Shook looked fairly good as did Reed and Cloud for the losers.

Gerald Hanley refereed the game.

Advertisements Are A Guide To Value

Experts can roughly estimate the value of a product by looking at it. More accurately, by handling and examining it. Its appearance, its texture, the "feel" and the balance of it all mean something to their trained eyes and fingers.

But no one person can be an expert on steel, brass, wood, leather, foodstuffs, fabrics, and all of the materials that make up a list of personal purchases. And even experts are fooled, sometimes, by concealed flaws and imperfections.

There is a surer index of value than the senses of sight and touch—knowledge of the maker's name and for what it stands. Here is the most certain method, except that of actual use, for judging the value of any manufactured goods. Here is the only guarantee against careless workmanship, or the use of shoddy materials.

This is one important reason why it pays to read advertisements and to buy advertised goods. The product that is advertised is worthy of your confidence.

Merchandise must be good or it could not be advertised. Buy advertised goods.

Using a tight man-to-man defense, the Grant Flying Clouds held the Ashville Jr. O. U. A. M. to two foul goals Christmas night in a prelude to the C. A. C. Bliss game and won their contest 32 to 2.

Ashville scored but two foul goals in the entire game coming the first period and the other in the second. They went scoreless all throughout the second half.

The Clouds started in fast style, and with Joe Glitt scoring all the points on three field goals, held a lead of six to one at the end of the opening period. Shook's foul goal was the Ashville quota.

In the second period, goals by Phillips, Glitt and Weffer and a foul by Maloney gave the Clouds a lead of 13-2 at halftime. A charity toss by Cloud was the Ashville score in this period.

From that time on it was all Flying Clouds, with the Junior Order team having nary a look-in. Weffer led the Grant scoring in the second half with four field goals.

The Ashville team played its first game and although it didn't show much form will develop into a mighty classy amateur team before they have played many games. Shook looked fairly good as did Reed and Cloud for the losers.

Gerald Hanley refereed the game.

Advertisements Are A Guide To Value

Experts can roughly estimate the value of a product by looking at it. More accurately, by handling and examining it. Its appearance, its texture, the "feel" and the balance of it all mean something to their trained eyes and fingers.

But no one person can be an expert on steel, brass, wood, leather, foodstuffs, fabrics, and all of the materials that make up a list of personal purchases. And even experts are fooled, sometimes, by concealed flaws and imperfections.

There is a surer index of value than the senses of sight and touch—knowledge of the maker's name and for what it stands. Here is the most certain method, except that of actual use, for judging the value of any manufactured goods. Here is the only guarantee against careless workmanship, or the use of shoddy materials.

This is one important reason why it pays to read advertisements and to buy advertised goods. The product that is advertised is worthy of your confidence.

Merchandise must be good or it could not be advertised. Buy advertised goods.

MISS SOPHIA PARK'S SIXTH GRADE OF HIGH STREET WHY WE CELEBRATED CHRISTMAS

By Jane Littleton.

We celebrate Christmas because Christa was born then. Christmas is known the world over as a day to be happy and cheerful. We should help people on that day that are not so fortunate.

My attention was called the other day to an article in the paper concerning Russia. In Russia they do not celebrate Christmas. People are fined if they bring Christmas trees in the city. Church bells are not allowed to ring. The stores are not allowed to sell Christmas articles; painters and artists painting Christmas things were banished from the city.

In our country we celebrate Christmas to the fullest extent. Schools, churches and organizations of all kinds celebrate Christmas. Many presents are given at Christmas. Cities are gayly decorated. Santa Claus usually comes to good little girls and boys too. Presents are given and carols are sung. Everything is merry at Christmas.

In our school room this year, we celebrated Christmas by having a Christmas program writing Christmas stories, poems, songs, and plays. Our room like all the other school rooms was cheerfully decorated.

A PRARIE CHRISTMAS

By Hildeburn Jones, Jr.

Out in a lonely prairie stood a little sod but no bigger than a good sized garage. In it lived John and Mary Smith and their mother. Their father had died just a few weeks before, and as they were very poor to start with they now had just enough food and shelter to keep them alive.

So one cold wintry night in December when the wind was howling and moaning in the sage brush, the two children began to talk about Christmas which was only a week off. John said, "I wonder if Santa will see us when he comes by in his sleigh."

"I hope so anyway," said Mary "because we always want Christmas presents. So to be on the safe side let's write him a letter." So they hunted around till they finally found a piece of paper and a pencil. When they were through the letter read:

Dear Santa:—
We live out in a lonely prairie so I thought we had better write you, so you wouldn't miss us. I will put a piece of paper on the chimney so you can tell it is our house."

Very truly yours,
Mary and John Smith.
The next morning when the paper had been placed on the chimney, they heard a knock on the door. There was a snowstorm coming up so they all had to go in the hut.

When the door was opened two men staggered in covered with snow. They had run off the road in the storm and had seen the little hut and headed for it expecting shelter. The mother kindly gave them what little food she had. After they were through eating the men began to tell her about different things, one of which was that they were hunting a man by the name of Henry Smith.

She then began to tell about her dead husband and it turned out that he was the man they were looking for. By that time the storm had passed on. The man then got ready to go and asked the mother to get the children and come to his ranch to live. So they left their little hut to live in a fine big ranch house.

And Santa found the children after all, so they had the best time at Christmas anybody could wish for.

A CHRISTMAS PARTY

By Alice Mary Griner.

One Friday afternoon when I got home from school, I found an invitation in the mail box. It said "Please come to my Christmas Party, Saturday afternoon. Wear a costume to represent Christmas. W. A."

Saturday afternoon I dressed as a Christmas Present. I carried a large white box tied with red ribbon.

When I arrived at the party, most of the guests had arrived. Some were Christmas ornaments, snow, elves and bells. We played many Christmas games. Just before we had refreshments, my friend took us in another room, in which was a large paper fireplace. We were told to sit down. In a few moments we heard bells, and Santa Claus came down the chimney. He had a bag on his back. He opened it and gave us each a present.

Next we had refreshments. We had cocoa, sandwiches and fruit cake. We had a very nice time.

HANDY SANTA

By Ned Harden

Now on Christmas, old Santa Claus
At each fireplace will pause
And in the stockings put some
For every good girl and every Food boy.
Santa Claus is very handy,
He brings us toys and candy,
He comes down the chimney with his big pack,
Which he carries with ease upon his back.

MY CHRISTMAS OF 1928

By Ned Harden

One morning I awoke to find that it was Christmas. I dressed and ran down stairs to the tree and found lots of presents for me. After I opened my presents I went to the County Home where they gave the old folks a Christmas party.

First they had service and then they each got a sack of candy and popcorn balls. Then Santa Claus came. When he got half way down stairs, he asked if they would hurt him. They said no, so he came on down.

Afterwards, we went outside, my brother, Thomas, said that he saw where Santa landed on the roof in his airplane and bent the lightning rod. Finally, he went home and called it "The End of a Perfect Day."

WHY WE GIVE PRESENTS

By Matilda Davis

Giving presents has been a custom for many, many years. Some people wonder how we ever got this idea. This custom, although the right idea is not in their minds, is fun to many people.

When Christ was born, the Wise Men brought gifts of Frankincense and many other things. This was the beginning of this old custom.

This should not be thought of as the real meaning of Christmas. This custom brings happiness to all people the rich and poor, the young and the old.

The younger children's Christmas is made very happy by believing in Good Old Saint Nicholas, who everyone knows of, and who knows his work is to give gifts to the young children.

THE CHRISTMAS SPIRIT

By Hilaine Haecker

At Christmas time everybody is working hard. Some people are buying presents to give to friends. Others are decorating their homes and Christmas trees. Many firms give money, or their men to work on the city's decorations. Everybody has the Christmas Spirit on their mind.

In many countries people celebrate Christmas. It is the time when our Saviour Jesus was born and everybody should be happy.

DANDY SANTA

By Ellen Morris

Santa comes on Christmas, And brings a sack of toys; But he only gives them to Good little girls and boys.

Oh, gee, but Santa's dandy, He brings us toys so handy, He's jolly and merry And round as a cherry, That jolly old man so dandy.

And if I'm not good you see, O toys will he leave for me, So I'll be good as good can be, And get some toys under my tree.

ON CHRISTMAS EVE

By Dorothy Beatty

On Christmas Eve when we go to sleep,
We hear some one go creep, creep,
It is Santa Claus, so dear
Who brings us toys every year.

He carries a big pack
Upon his back,
He's decorated with lots of holly,
And he's also very, very jolly.

He brings us toys of every kind,
Nuts, candy and books fine,
But when bad girls and boys
In their stockings look,

CHRISTMAS LETTERS

By Alice Mary Griner

"This girl wants a scarf.
This one wants a doll
This boy wants a ball"
Elves, get busy,
There's work to do.
This girl wants a book of blue.

CHRISTMAS BELLS

By Alice Griner

Christmas is coming.
Oh, don't you hear,
The jingle of sleigh bells
Ringing clear?

He's up on the house top,
Now listen at that:
He's down by the fireplace
Opening his pack.

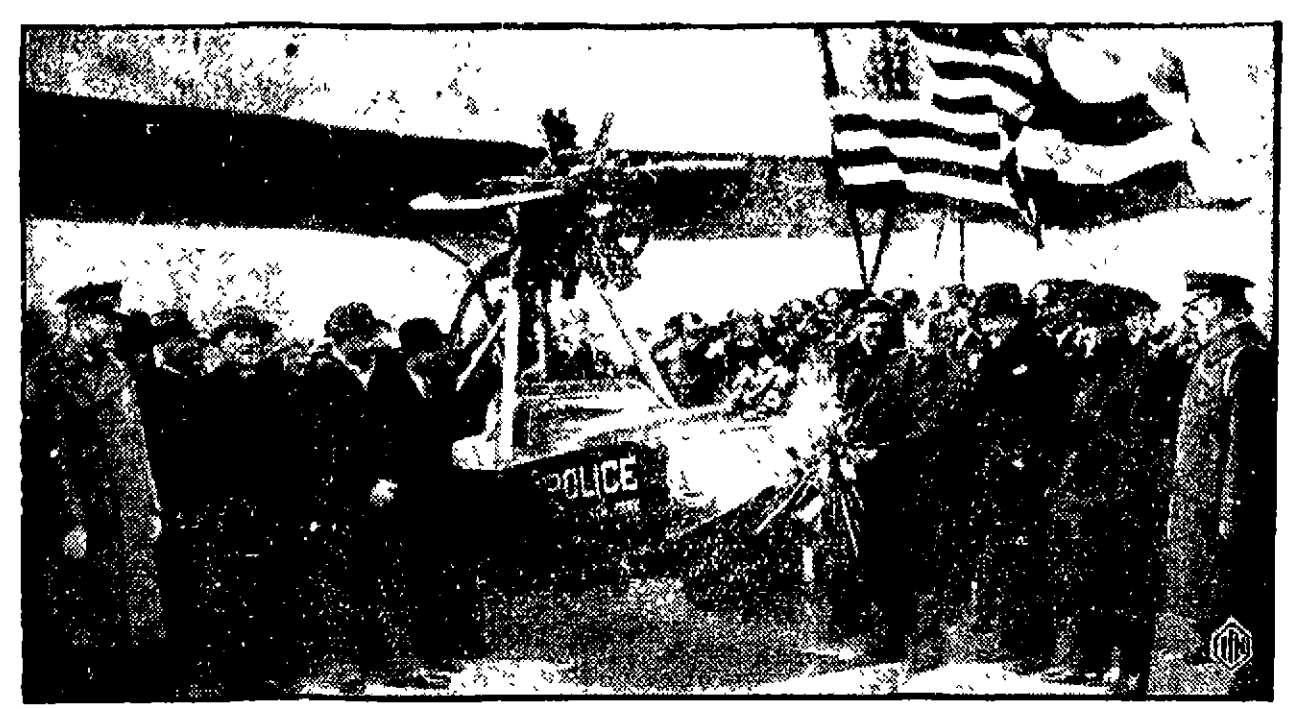

He'll fill all our stockings,
Then hurry away,
To be back again,
Next Christmas Day.

SANTA'S JOURNEY

By Alice Mary Griner

Said Santa Claus, "I'll go tonight,
And visit houses all night,
I'll take my pack upon my back,
And in every house the toys I'll stack.
I'll leave some fruit, and nuts and candy,
For girls and boys,
I'll leave toys handy."

Year of Stomach Trouble Ended By New Medicine—Every Other Remedy Failed.

MRS. NORA DILLON.

"Konjola put to flight all my ills," said Mrs. Nora Dillon, 1576 Duxberry avenue, Columbus, Ohio. "For a year I suffered with stomach trouble so badly that I had to live on a strict diet. I suffered keenly from gas and bloating pains after eating. And I finally became so weak that I could not attend to my household duties. Medicine after medicine failed to bring relief and I kept getting worse day by day.

"My attention was attracted to Konjola by the many local endorsements and I decided to see if it would touch my case. Well, it certainly did. I took seven bottles and that was enough to completely restore my health. I am eating anything I wish without distress afterwards, and my nerves are calm. With a good appetite and sufficient sleep I am rapidly regaining my lost strength. I shall always praise Konjola."

Konjola is sold in Circleville at Hamilton & Ryan's drug store and by all the best druggists throughout this entire section.—Adv.

COLDS MAY DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

When Christ was born, the Wise Men brought gifts of Frankincense and many other things. This was the beginning of this old custom.
This should not be thought of as the real meaning of Christmas. This custom brings happiness to all people the rich and poor, the young and the old.
The younger children's Christmas is made very happy by believing in Good Old Saint Nicholas, who everyone knows of, and who knows his work is to give gifts to the young children.

THE CHRISTMAS SPIRIT
By Hilaine Haacker

At Christmas time everybody is working hard. Some people are buying presents to give to friends. Others are decorating their homes and Christmas trees. Many firms give money, or their men to work on the city's decorations. Everybody has the Christmas Spirit on their mind.
In many countries people celebrate Christmas. It is the time when our Saviour Jesus was born and everybody should be happy.

DANDY SANTA
By Ellen Morris

Santa comes on Christmas, And brings a sack of toys; But he only gives them to Good little girls and boys.
Oh, gee, but Santa's dandy, He brings us toys so handy, He's jolly and merry And round as a cherry, That jolly old man so dandy.
And if I'm not good you see, o toys will be leave for me, So I'll be good as good can be, And get some toys under my tree.

ON CHRISTMAS EVE
By Dorothy Beatty

On Christmas Eve when we go to sleep,
We hear some one go creep, creep, It is Santa Claus, so dear Who brings us toys every year.
He carries a big pack Upon his back, He's decorated with lots of holly, And he's also very, very jolly.
He brings us toys of every kind, Nuts, candy and books fine, But when bad girls and boys In their stockings look, There is a stick instead of a book.

CHRISTMAS LETTERS
By Alice Mary Griner

"This girl wants a scarf, This one wants a doll This boy wants a ball" Elves, get busy, There's work to do, This girl wants a book of blue.

By Alice Griner

Christmas is coming, Oh, don't you hear, The jingle of sleigh bells Ringing clear?
He's up on the house top, Now listen at that; He's down by the fireplace Opening his pack.
He'll fill all our stockings, Then hurry away, To be back again, Next Christmas Day.

SANTA'S JOURNEY
By Alice Mary Griner

Said Santa Claus, "I'll go tonight, And visit houses all alight, I'll take my pack upon my back, And in every house the toys I'll stack.
I'll leave some fruit, and nuts and candy, For girls and boys, I'll leave toys handy.

Year of Stomach Trouble Ended By New Medicine—Every Other Remedy Failed.

MRS. NORA DILLON.
"Konjola put to flight all my ills," said Mrs. Nora Dillon, 1576 Duxberry avenue, Columbus, Ohio. "For a year I suffered with stomach trouble so badly that I had to live on a strict diet. I suffered keenly from gas and bloating pains after eating, and I finally became so weak that I could not attend to my household duties. Medicine after medicine failed to bring relief and I kept getting worse day by day.
"My attention was attracted to Konjola by the many local endorsements and I decided to see if it would touch my case. Well, it certainly did. I took seven bottles and that was enough to completely restore my health. I am eating anything I wish without distress afterwards, and my nerves are calm. With a good appetite and sufficient sleep I am rapidly regaining my lost strength. I shall always praise Konjola."
Konjola is sold in Circleville at Hamilton & Ryan's drug store, and by all the best druggists throughout this entire section.—Adv.

HOLIDAY ANIMALS The results of the extensive archaeological work being carried on in all parts of the world are evident in an array of animal art objects which has turned Christmas store displays into zoos and Noah's Arks.

There are animals and birds and fishes of all kinds and in all poses and of many materials. Some of them are to be used merely as bric-a-brac. Others serve a useful purpose as book ends, door stops, paper weights, lamp bases, candle sticks, ash trays, bottle stoppers and so on.

The purely ornamental animals are chiefly porcelain, glass and bronze, but almost every material has been used. The price range is just as varied. One can pay $7 for a life-size green grass hopper of Royal Doulton porcelain, or $95 for a contemplative yak of the same lovely ware.

The ancient Egyptians made animal figures, often for use in their religious rites. Thousands of years ago the Chinese carved exquisite little figures of ivory and jade and other materials. There is the golden calf of the Old Testament. Modern Germany, England, Denmark, Japan, China, the United States and other countries are making these popular pieces for commerce.

A-TRUSTFUL WIFE Another chapter in the criminal war rivals fiction. A man living quietly with his wife in a select residence section in a small Michigan city, regarded as a wealthy merchant from Chicago attracts attention by shooting a traffic policeman. Officers raiding his home find it a fortified treasury house containing more than $300,000 in stolen bonds. There is said to be conclusive evidence that the tenant is a robber and murderer.

And here is the most curious part of the story. The wife, questioned by the police, says that she "had faith in her husband." He told her nothing, and she never suspected that he was engaged in illegitimate business.

Now, honestly, with that house defended by three machine guns, seven automatic pistols, 11 tear bombs, and enough ammunition and nitroglycerine to blow up a penitentiary, wouldn't you think that an ordinarily inquisitive woman would have had a slight suspicion that there might be something just a little queer about it?

The Chinese would probably be as much worried about their war as other nations are, if they knew it was going on.

"STORM-TOSSED" BY HELEN SCHERMERHORN YOUNG

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE. Enid Monroe, young daughter of a cultivated New York family, has been loved since school days by Ned Grier and Dick Grant. The two boys have been chums, and the friendship grows with the years. Enid favors Dick. Ned invites her to the Senior Prom. She does not know it was chance, the toss of a coin, that had prevented Dick from doing so. In the meantime, Ned becomes interested in Pearl, hotel check-room girl. Dick gets suspicious when Ned neglects his studies to keep an appointment with her. The night before Enid and her mother arrive, Ned confides in Dick that Pearl is making trouble.

(NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.)

CHAPTER IV. WAS Enid, after all, to be exclusively Ned's for the evening of the Senior Ball?

Enid Monroe was without a doubt the belle of the ball. And so be the belle of a Senior Ball is an achievement, especially when a girl is only seventeen.

To be sure, Enid had many points in her favor, the least of which was not her looks. For she was a lovely thing, tall and slender and graceful, like a lily. Her sleek, shining head of dark, straight hair distinguished her from the hundreds of perfectly waved heads which seemed made from the same pattern. Her blue eyes, like the sea, shone under her inky brows and lashes. Enid didn't dance. She veritably floated in her pink chiffon dress, which drifted rhythmically with her.

When big Dick Grant, the Varsity right guard, and Ned Grier, Varsity left tackle, commenced rushing Enid Monroe off of her pretty little pink satin feet, she became more than ever the vogue. Not only did every man want to dance with her, but every man tried to. She could scarcely dance half the length of the gym without some one cutting in.

Even Ned—and she was his guest for the ball, too—had difficulty in holding her for five yards. He told Dick that it was as hard as trying to carry a football.

When the ball was almost over, Ned determined to have at least one long dance with Enid before the orchestra played "Good Night, Ladies." Quickly he cut in and, as he put his arm around her, he headed for the center of the floor in order to hide her from the pack of stars.

Pretty? Yes—very blond, but so hard and with so much make-up. Her flame-colored satin dress was entirely too low and much too short—vulgar in its sheathing suggestiveness.

Her cold, greenish eyes were riveted on Ned. Then suddenly they flashed on Enid. She met them full. No one had ever looked at her before like that. She felt embarrassed and was relieved when she and Ned were lost in the crowd.

She glanced up at Ned to see if he had noticed the girl. He was smiling and unconcerned. How handsome he was, she thought as she looked at his clear profile and the very best dance she had ever enjoyed with her whole life. That was very important. Nevertheless, she was hoping that Dick Grant would cut in again soon.

Enid's face. Before his face touched hers it burnt her. Gently and slowly Dick put his arms around Enid. He almost lifted her from the ground; with increasing strength he held her closer and closer to him. His mouth was on hers. She went limp. He held her quietly for a moment, her head resting on his breast.

Someone was coming along his arms. She freed herself from his arms.

Nearer along the graveled walk came quick, short steps, as of a child or a girl running. Enid and Dick stood quietly by each other. "Ned—Ned!" came a voice.

Dick stepped in front of Enid, but as the girl approached with an almost frantic "Ned!" Enid caught a glimpse of her blond hair and the flame-colored dress.

"Oh," gasped the strange girl, when she was face to face with Dick. Then she turned quickly and disappeared in the darkness.

"Dick, how she scared me!" whispered Enid, slipping her arm through his. "Who is that girl?" "It's nothing, Enid," replied Dick, reassuringly. "I don't know who she is. She just made a mistake. I guess she's looking for another Ned."

They turned and walked back to the music. Enid was trembling. She remembered the sinister look in the green eyes of the girl in the flame-colored dress as she had watched her during that last dance with Ned.

Ned fairly ran toward Enid as she entered the ballroom. It was the last dance, and his. She did not think of him, however. She might as well have been dancing with a stranger.

Going back to the fraternity house, Enid closed the door to her room, waited for a few moments and turned out the light. She lay down on the bed—in her beautiful pink chiffon dress. It didn't matter. Dick had kissed her. Oh, that kiss!

Here she was, lying in Dick's bed. All of the boys had moved out of the fraternity house and turned it over to the girls. Mummy was in Ned's room. The sitting room where the boys studied was between.

Building Up to Resist Colds

Don't Forego Exercise, Fresh Air and Sunshine During the "Shut-in" Months, Urges Dr. Copeland, Writing About Causes and Treatment of Catarrh.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D. United States Senator from New York. Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

THERE are many kinds of catarrh, but the most common of all is nasal catarrh. There may be a severe cold resulting in a simple form of catarrh, and if allowed to go unchecked this condition may result in chronic catarrh, and perhaps in catarrhal bronchitis.

Some climates predispose to catarrh. Damp and changeable weather aggravates the trouble. This condition is due to frequent and neglected colds. You must overcome this tendency to having colds by following certain rules in your daily living.

You cannot afford to go about with wet feet or to live in ill-ventilated rooms, or in too hot rooms. Too many persons, especially women, wear their coats and mufflers indoors, and no matter how long they remain, do not unloose them. They are overwarm. The perspiration is brought on, and on returning to the open air there is evaporation of this moisture and chilling of the body follows. Chilling causes the blood vessels inside the skin to contract and the blood is forced to the deep parts of the body. The bronchial tubes become congested.

Along with the chilling process there is a lowering of the body resistance, and the alert germs have a chance to break through the protective tissues. Then comes bronchitis. Having one cold after another, the blood vessels lose their elasticity and remain swollen. The tissues of the nose become thickened. The glands are overworked and the mucous from the delicate membrane lining is profuse. The sinus cavities, those cavities opening into the nose, are lined with the mucous membrane and they take on the inflammation too. The catarrhal condition may extend into the ears and the throat. In children, adenoids and diseased tonsils may have much to do with colds and catarrhal conditions.

What can be done for catarrh? In the first place, take good care of yourself, build up your health so that you won't have a cold. Be properly shod, wear all the warm clothes you can for the coldest weather, be sure not to get chilled.

The best thing to build up your bodily resistance to those catarrhal and cold conditions is plenty of vigorous exercise in the bracing air and sunshine, and nourishing foods. Taking only halfway measures will not banish this condition.

Cleanliness again comes to the fore. On going home from the office, crowded rooms anywhere, the theater, crowded street cars, wash your face in soap and water, and wash out the outer nostrils. This will protect you from dirt and germs you may have picked up.

Accompanying a condition of constipation as the result of overindulgence, or some other cause, are colds and catarrh. The constipation must be cleared up, and with the interesting sluggishness gone, you will probably find the catarrh abating.

Answers to Health Queries

A READER. Q.—How can I stop my eyelashes from falling out?

A.—Apply 1% yellow oxide of mercury ointment to the lashes at night upon retiring.

L. J. M. Q.—What do you advise for pimples?

A.—Correct your diet by cutting down on sugar, starches and coffee. Eat simple food. Avoid poor elimination. For further particulars send self-addressed stamped envelope and repeat your question.

A. S. Q.—What would cause a feeling of water in the stomach—the condition not unlike the "round made" condition?

A.—Partial deafness is often caused by nasal catarrh. It has extended into the middle ear. Try to correct the underlying condition and you will probably notice improvement. For other particulars send a self-addressed stamped envelope and repeat your question.

Two Uses for Wire Ball

One housewife says that she has found that the ordinary fine wire cleaning ball used for scouring pots and pans is excellent to clean the perches in the bird's cage. Another says it is the best cleaner for bathtub and bowl. Rub a little cleaning powder or soap on the ball, she says, apply, and the ring around the tub will disappear like magic, and the dirt is easily rinsed out of the wire ball.

Ingenious Tax Evasion

Why so many of the carts used by French peasants are built with but two wheels and those of great size is thus explained: In early times taxes were levied on the wheels of vehicles. It was found that a cart could be placed upon two large wheels and have about the same carrying value as a four-wheeled wagon, but cutting the tax in two.

Fire Statistics

Statistics of the national board of fire underwriters show that 1 per cent of the number of fires cause 66.23 per cent of our total fire losses. Obviously such fires are in buildings where large concentrations of wealth are stored, such as stores, factories, warehouses, theaters, office buildings, etc. This leaves one-third of the fire loss for fires in all types of small buildings.

For Paté de Foie Gras

In Strasbourg where the goose-liver industry is most important the geese are confined in small dark cages so that they can move only a few inches. They are fed two or three times a day commonly with all the ground maize or wheat flour paste they can be made to eat. At the end of about three weeks, when they are very fat, they are killed. The liver usually weighs from two and one-half to three pounds.

"A man, however powerful," said H. H. Ho, the sage of Chatham, "must be prepared to meet some woman whose will he will have to obey."—Washington Star.

Like father, like son. Again this adage is proved in the Nugent stage family.

Elliott Nugent, who plays one of the leading roles in "So This Is College," which is at the Cliftona theater Thursday followed in the exact footsteps of his father, J. C. Nugent, who combined acting, playwriting and producing and then devoted his talents to motion pictures.

In the new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer 100 per cent talking-singing-dancing feature, the son, having acted, written and produced Broadway successes, makes his debut as a film player.

"I made my first stage appearance in the Los Angeles Orpheum theatre when I was four years old," young Nugent related, "and have been on the stage pretty much since that time, although I managed to get in schooling at the Ohio State university between shows.

"Our whole family got together and acted in dad's play, 'Kempy,' and later in 'The Nugents,' written by dad about his brood, we scored perhaps our greatest collective success. I was writing myself about this time and I brought out 'The Poor Nut,' with myself as star, director and producer.

AT THE GRAND Circleville will be given a chance to see Ted Lewis' widely advertised talking picture next Sunday, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday when "Is Everybody Happy?" appears at the Grand theatre.

This picture, Ted's first talky, is gaining a great amount of favorable publicity in all the big cities. It has shown in and when it comes right down to the star's home town it is almost certain the picture will draw plenty of movie fans.

A letter sent by the manager of a theatre in Oklahoma to the Warner Bros. booking agency says the following: "Just a word about Ted Lewis' picture. It is a knockout. We are just sick because we didn't know how good it really was. It is what the public really wants. Just hope Warner keeps the good work up and give us more like it and especially more of Ted and his Jazz Hounds.

From the Bible

The expression "feet of clay" is found on a passage in the Bible—Isaiah, 11:33. The reference concerns an idol "and the legs of iron, the feet part of iron and part of clay."

Notice to the public

SUPPOSE you are today paying 50c a tube for your tooth paste (and there are many very good dentifrices selling today at that price).

Suppose, like most people, you buy about twelve tubes during a year. Now if you knew that you could buy as good a dentifrice as can be made and still save each year the price of 25 loaves of bread or 60 bars of soap or 40 pounds of sugar or a box of fine cigars—could you conscientiously fail to take advantage of such an opportunity?

That is exactly what you do when you buy Listerine Tooth Paste at 25c for a large tube. Figure it out for yourself.

HOLIDAY ANIMALS
The results of the extensive archaeological work being carried on in all parts of the world are evident in an array of animal art objects which has turned Christmas store displays into zoos and Noah's Arks.

There are animals and birds and fishes of all kinds and in all poses and of many materials. Some of them are to be used merely as bric-a-brac. Others serve a useful purpose as book ends, door stops, paper weights, lamp bases, candle sticks, ash trays, bottle stoppers and so on.

The purely ornamental animals are chiefly porcelain, glass and bronze, but almost every material has been used. The price range is just as varied. One can pay $7 for a life-size green grass hopper of Royal Doulton porcelain, of $95 for a contemplative yak of the some lovely ware.

The ancient Egyptians made animal figures, often for use in their religious rites. Thousands of years ago the Chinese carved exquisite little figures of ivory and jade and other materials. There is the golden calf of the Old Testament. Modern Germany, England, Denmark, Japan, China, the United States and other countries are making these popular pieces for commerce.

A TRUSTFUL WIFE

Another chapter in the criminal war rivals fiction. A man living quietly with his wife in a select residence section in a small Michigan city, regarded as a wealthy merchant from Chicago attracts attention by shooting a traffic policeman. Officers raiding his home find it a fortified treasury house containing more than $300,000 in stolen bonds. There is said to be conclusive evidence that the tenant is a robber and murderer.

And here is the most curious part of the story. The wife, questioned by the police, says that she "had faith in her husband." He told her nothing, and she never suspected that he was engaged in illegitimate business.

Now, honestly, with that house defended by three machine guns, seven automatic pistols, 11 tear bombs, and enough ammunition and nitroglycerine to blow up a penitentiary, wouldn't you think that an ordinarily inquisitive woman would have had a slight suspicion that there might be something just a little queer about it?

The Chinese would probably be as much worried about their war as other nations are, if they knew it was going on.

LITTLE LORD FAUNTILFROY

"STORM-TOSSED"

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE.
Enid Monroe, young daughter of a cultivated New York family, has been loved since school days by Ned Grier and Dick Grant. The two boys have been chums, and the friendship grows with the years. Enid favors Dick. Ned invites her to the Senior Prom. She does not know it was chance, the toss of a coin, that had prevented Dick from doing so. In the meantime, Ned becomes interested in Pearl, hotel check-room girl. Dick gets suspicious when Ned neglects his studies to keep an appointment with her. The night before Enid and her mother arrive, Ned confides in Dick that Pearl is making trouble.

CHAPTER IV.
WAS ENID, after all, to be exclusively Ned's for the evening of the Senior Ball?

Enid Monroe was without a doubt the belle of the ball. And so to be the belle of a Senior Ball is an achievement, especially when a girl is only seventeen.

To be sure, Enid had many points in her favor, the least of which was not her looks. For she was a lovely thing, tall and slender and graceful, like a lily. Her sleek, shining head of dark, straight hair distinguished hers from the hundreds of perfectly waved heads which seemed made from the same pattern. Her blue eyes, like the sea, shone under her inky brows and lashes. Enid didn't dance. She veritably floated in her pink chiffon dress, which drifted rhythmically with her.

When big Dick Grant, the Varsity right guard, and Ned Grier, Varsity left tackle, commenced rushing Enid Monroe off of her pretty little pink satin feet, she became more than ever the vogue. Not only did every man want to dance with her, but every man tried to. She could scarcely dance half the length of the gym without some one cutting in.

Even Ned—and she was his guest for the ball, too—had difficulty in holding her for five yards. He told Dick that it was as hard as trying to carry a football. When the ball was almost over, Ned determined to have at least one long dance with Enid before the orchestra played "Good Night, Ladies." Quickly he cut in and, as he put his arm around her, he headed for the center of the floor in order to hide her from the pack of stags.

It was at this moment that Enid saw a girl at the edge of the crowd—a girl whom at a glance one knew did not belong there.

Pretty? Yes—very blond, but so hard and with so much make-up. Her flame-colored satin dress was entirely too low and much too short—vulgar in its sheathing ingenuity.

Her cold, greenish eyes were riveted on Ned. Then suddenly they flashed on Enid. She met them full. No one had ever looked at her before like that. She felt embarrassed and was relieved when she and Ned were lost in the crowd.

She glanced up at Ned to see if he had noticed the girl. He was smiling and unconcerned. How handsome he was, she thought as she looked at his clear profile, and the very best dancer she had ever danced with in her whole life. That was very important. Nevertheless, she was hoping that Dick Grant would cut in again soon.

There Dick was in the front ranks of the stags. He caught her eye, strode through the dancers and tapped Ned on the shoulder. She was in his arms—Dick's arms—her heart beat faster.

"It's warm. Let's go out for a moment, Enid," said Dick, his voice very husky and his eyes hazy as he drew his handkerchief across his damp forehead.

He leaned and held her arm—how tightly he held it! It almost hurt as he piloted her through the laughing couple. There under a great spreading tree in the shadow, Dick bent his head down close—closer, closer to Enid's face. Before his face touched hers it burnt her.

Gently and slowly Dick put his arms around Enid. He almost lifted her from the ground; with increasing strength he held her closer and closer to him. His mouth was on hers. She went limp. He held her quietly for a moment, her head resting on his breast.

Someone was coming along the walk. She freed herself from his arms. Nearer along the graveled walk came a quick, short step, as of a child or a girl running. Enid and Dick stood quietly by each other.

"Ned—Ned!" came a voice. Dick stepped in front of Enid, but as the girl approached with an almost frantic "Ned!" Enid caught a glimpse of her blond hair and the flame-colored dress.

"Oh," gasped the strange girl, when she was face to face with Dick. Then she turned quickly and disappeared in the darkness.

"Dick, how she scared me!" To whispered Enid, slipping her arm through his. "Who is that girl?" "It's nothing," Enid replied. Dick, reassuringly, "I don't know who she is. She just made a mistake. I guess she's looking for another Ned."

They turned and walked back to the music. Enid was trembling. She remembered the sinister look in the green eyes of the girl in the flame colored dress as she had watched her during that last dance with Ned.

Ned fairly ran toward Enid as she entered the ballroom. It was the last thing before she turned out the light. And there was his Varsity sweater with the big letter on it.

It reminded her of the day she had sat in the grandstand at Princeton and heard the roar when their team ran on the field—the day Dick was hurt. She must have loved him then.

Enid pushed her hair back from her forehead. Why hadn't Dick invited her to this ball when he had told her this very evening that so long ago he wanted to kiss her?

In a trance she lay there—Dick's kiss still on her lips. She hugged herself and buried her mouth in her firm, smooth arm, imagining Dick's arm around her and his lips on hers.

Four years before, when she was a little girl, her delicious memories ran, her heart had suddenly started and beaten quickly against his something she had never experienced before. And now tonight for the first time she wished that she were lying side by side with a man, that his arm were around her, that her head was on a man's

DR. COPELAND SAYS—

Don't Forego Exercise, Fresh Air and Sunshine During the "Shut-in" Months, Urges Dr. Copeland, Writing About Causes and Treatment of Catarrh.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States Senator from New York.
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

THERE are many kinds of catarrh, but the most common of all is nasal catarrh. There may be a severe cold resulting in a simple form of catarrh, and if allowed to go unheeded this condition may result in chronic catarrh, and perhaps in catarrhal bronchitis.

Some climates predispose to catarrh. Damp and changeable weather aggravates the trouble. This condition is due to frequent and neglected colds. You must overcome this tendency to having colds by following certain rules in your daily living.

You cannot afford to go about with wet feet, or to live in ill-ventilated rooms, or in too hot rooms. Too many persons, especially women, wear their coats and mufflers indoors, and no matter how long they remain, do not unloose them. They are overwarm. Perspiration is brought on, and on returning to the open air there is evaporation of this moisture and chilling of the body follows. Chilling causes the blood vessels inside the skin to contract and the blood is forced to the deep parts of the body. The bronchial tubes become congested.

Having one cold after another, the blood vessels lose their elasticity and remain swollen. The tissues of the nose become thickened. The glands are overworked and the mucous from the delicate membrane lining is profuse. The sinus cavities, those cavities opening into the nose, are lined with the membrane and they take on the inflammation too. The catarrhal condition may extend into the ears and the throat.

In children adenoids and diseased tonsils may have much to do with colds and catarrhal conditions. What can be done for catarrh? In the first place, take good care of yourself. Build up your health so that you won't have a cold. Be properly shod, wear all the warm clothes you can for the coldest weather, be sure not to get chilled.

The best thing to build up your bodily resistance to those catarrhal and cold conditions is plenty of vigorous exercise in the bracing air and sunshine, and nourishing foods. Taking only halfway measures will not banish this condition. Cleanliness again comes to the fore. On going home from the office, crowded rooms anywhere, the theatre, crowded street cars, wash your face in soap and water, and wash out the outer nostrils. This will protect you from dirt and germs you may have picked up.

Accompanying a condition of constipation as the result of overeating, or some other cause, are colds and catarrh. The constipation must be cleared up, and with the intestinal sluggishness gone, you will probably find the catarrh abating.

Two Uses for Wire Ball

One housewife says that she has found that the ordinary fine wire cleaning ball used for scouring pots and pans is excellent to clean the perches in the bird's cage. Another says it is the best cleaner for bathtub and bowl. Rub a little cleaning powder or soap on the ball, she says, apply, and the ring around the tub will disappear like magic, and the dirt is easily rinsed out of the wire ball.

Ingenious Tax Evasion

Why so many of the carts used by French peasants are built with but two wheels and these of great size is thus explained: In early times taxes were levied on the wheels of vehicles. It was found that a cart could be placed upon two large wheels and have about the same carrying value as a four-wheeled wagon, but cutting the tax in two.

Fire Statistics

Statistics of the national board of fire underwriters show that 1 per cent of the number of fires cause 66 2/3 per cent of our total fire losses. Obviously such fires are in buildings where large concentrations of wealth are stored, such as stores, factories, warehouses, theaters, office buildings, etc. This leaves one-third of the fire loss for fires in all types of small buildings.

For Pate de Foie Gras

In Strasbourg where the goose-liver industry is most important the geese are confined in small dark cages so that they can move only a few inches. They are fed two or three times a day commonly with all the ground maize or wheat flour paste they can be made to eat. At the end of about three weeks, when they are very fat, they are killed. The liver usually weighs from two and one-half to three pounds.

THEATRES

AT THE CLIFTONA

Like father, like son.

Again this adage is proved in the Nugent stage family.

Elliott Nugent, who plays one of the leading roles in "So This Is College," which is at the Cliftona theatre Thursday followed in the exact footsteps of his father, J. C. Nugent, who combined acting, playwriting and producing and then devoted his talents to motion pictures.

In the new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer 100 per cent talking-singing-dancing feature, the son, having acted, written and produced Broadway successes, makes his debut as a film player.

"I made my first stage appearance in the Los Angeles Orpheum theatre when I was four years old," young Nugent related, "and have been on the stage pretty much since that time, although I managed to get in schooling at the Ohio State university between shows.

"Our whole family got together and acted in dad's play, 'Kempy,' and later in 'The Nugents,' written by dad about his brood, we scored perhaps our greatest collective success. I was writing myself about this time and I brought out 'The Poor Nut,' with myself as star, director and producer.

AT THE GRAND

Circleville will be given a chance to see Ted Lewis' widely advertised talking picture next Sunday, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday when "Is Everybody Happy?" appears at the Grand theatre.

This picture, Ted's first talky, is gaining a great amount of favorable publicity in all the big cities. It has shown in and when it comes right down to the star's home town it is almost certain the picture will draw plenty of movie fans.

picture. It is a knockout. We are just sick because we didn't know how good it really was. It is what the public really wants. Just hope Warners keep the good work up and give us more like it and especially more of Ted and his Jazz Hounds.

LEGAL NOTICES

ORDINANCE NO. 681
Providing for the issuance of Bonds of the City of Circleville, Ohio, for the purpose of Building a Municipal Hospital and Equipping the Same.

Whereas, pursuant to Ordinance Number 642 passed by this Council on the 10th day of January, A. D. 1929, there was issued $75,000.00 in anticipatory notes of the City of Circleville, Ohio, for the purpose of providing a temporary fund with which to equip a municipal hospital for the City of Circleville, Ohio;

Whereas, such notes have been issued as provided in said ordinance Number 642 and in compliance with the provisions of The Uniform Bond Act, Sections 2293-1 et seq. of the General Code of Ohio;

Whereas, such ordinance provides for the redemption of such notes at any interest paying date. Now Therefore, It is Ordained by the Council of the City of Circleville, State of Ohio:

Section 1. That it is deemed necessary to issue the bonds of the City of Circleville, Ohio, in the principal sum of $75,000.00, to provide a fund for the purpose of acquiring by purchase of condemnation proceedings real estate with buildings thereon, and erecting thereon a public building to be used for a municipal hospital and for the furnishing and equipping of said building, and to provide a fund for the payment of not to exceed one year's interest on said bonds. That said bonds shall be issued in one lot and that anticipatory notes have been issued in anticipation of the issuance of such bonds and that said bonds shall be used for the redemption of such notes.

Section 2. That bonds of the City of Circleville, Ohio, shall be issued in the principal sum of $75,000.00 for the purpose aforesaid. Each of said bonds shall be in the denomination of $1,000.00, and said bonds shall be dated February 1st, 1930, and shall bear interest at the rate of 4-1/2 per cent per annum, payable semi-annually, on the first days of April and October of each year, until the principal and interest shall have been paid in full. Said bonds shall be sold hearing a discount of one per cent, and the rate of interest, then hereafter specified, such bonds shall bear such rate of interest as may be provided for in the resolution of the Council approving the award thereof. Said bonds shall mature as follows:

Three (3) $1,000.00 bonds on October 1st of each of the years from 1931 to 1934, both inclusive, with the exception of the year 1934, when three (3) $1,000.00 bonds shall mature on the first day of April of said last mentioned year in addition to those maturing on October 1st in said year, and on October 1st in each of the years 1935, 1936, 1937, 1938, 1939, 1940, 1941, 1942, 1943, 1944, 1945, ORDINANCE NO. 681
Providing for the Issuance of Bonds of the City of Circleville, Ohio, for the Purpose of Building a Municipal Hospital and Equipping the Same.

Whereas, pursuant to Ordinance Number 642 passed by this Council on the 16th day of January, A. D. 1929, there was issued $75,000.00 in anticipatory notes of the City of Circleville, Ohio, for the purpose of providing a temporary fund with which to equip a municipal hospital for the City of Circleville, Ohio;

Whereas, such notes have been issued as provided in said ordinance Number 642 and in compliance with the provisions of The Uniform Bond Act, i. e., Sections 2293-1 et seq. of the General Code of Ohio 1926;

Whereas, such ordinance provides for the redemption of such notes at any interest paying date. Now Therefore,

Be It Ordained by the Council of the City of Circleville, State of Ohio,

Section 1. That it is deemed necessary to issue the bonds of the City of Circleville, Ohio, in the principal sum of $75,000.00, in order to provide a fund for the purpose of acquiring by purchase or condemnation proceedings real estate with a suitable building or buildings thereon, or for building and erecting thereon a public building to be used as and for a municipal hospital and for the furnishing and equipping of said building, and to provide a fund for the payment of not to exceed one year's interest on said bonds. The said bonds shall be issued in one lot and that anticipatory notes have been issued in anticipation of the issuance of such bonds; and that the fund provided by the sale of said bonds shall be used for the redemption of such notes.

Section 2. That bonds of the City of Circleville, Ohio, shall be issued in the principal sum of $75,000.00 for the purpose aforesaid. Each of said bonds shall be in the denomination of $1,000.00, and said bonds shall be dated February 1st, 1930, and shall bear interest at the rate of 4 3/4 per centum per annum, payable semi-annually, on the first days of April and October of each year until the principal sum is paid. Provided, however, that if said bonds are sold bearing a different rate of interest than hereinafter provided, such bonds shall bear such rate of interest as may be provided for in the resolution of council approving the award thereof. Said bonds shall mature as follows:

Three (3) $1,000.00 bonds on October 1st in each of the years from 1931 to 1934, both inclusive, with the exception of the year 1934, when three (3) $1,000.00 bonds shall mature on the first day of April of said last mentioned year, and the balance of the said bonds shall mature between the dates of October 1st and October 1st, 1934, which maturities are hereby determined to be in substantially equal annual installments.

Section 3. That said bonds shall express upon their face the purpose for which they are issued; that they are issued in pursuance of this ordinance and shall be signed by the Mayor and Auditor, and sealed with the corporate seal of said city. The interest coupons attached to said bonds shall bear the facsimile signature of the City Auditor. Said bonds shall bear consecutive numbers as the City Auditor shall determine.

Section 4. That for the purpose of providing the necessary funds to pay the interest on the foregoing issue of bonds, promptly when, and as the same falls due, and also to provide a fund sufficient to discharge the said serial bonds at maturity, there shall be and is hereby levied on all the taxable property in said City of Circleville, Ohio, in addition to all other taxes, a direct tax annually during the period said bonds are to run in an amount sufficient to provide funds to pay interest upon said bonds as and when the same falls due and also to provide a fund for the discharge of the principal of said serial bonds at maturity, which tax shall be not less than the interest and sinking fund tax required by Section 11 of Article XII of the Constitution.

Said tax shall be and is hereby ordered computed, certified, levied and extended upon the tax duplicate and collected by the same officers, in the same manner and at the same time that taxes for general purposes for each of said years are certified, extended and collected. Said tax shall be placed before and in preference to all other items and for the full amount thereof. The funds derived from said tax levies hereby required shall be placed in a separate and distinct fund, which together with all interest collected on same, shall be irrevocably pledged for the payment of the interest and principal of said bonds when and as the same fall due.

Section 5. That said bonds shall be first offered at par and accrued interest to the Trustees of the Sinking fund in their official capacity, and if said Trustees refuse to take any or all of said bonds, then said bonds not so taken shall be offered at par and accrued interest, to the Teachers' Retirement Board as created by section 7896-1 et seq. of the General Code, and in the event that such Board refuses to take any or all of said bonds then such bonds not so taken shall be offered at par and accrued interest to The Industrial Commission of the State of Ohio. In the event that any or all of said bonds remain unsold then their par value and accrued interest; the bond sale advertisement shall state that any one desiring to do so, may present a bid or bids for such bonds based upon their bearing a different rate of interest than hereinafter fixed; provided, however, that where a fractional interest rate is bid, such fraction shall be one-quarter of one per cent, or multiples thereof; the proceeds from the sale of said bonds, except the premium and accrued interest thereon and the amount of said bonds issued for interest, shall be used for the purpose aforesaid and for other purposes; the premium and accrued interest received from such sale and the amount of said bonds issued for interest shall be transferred to the Trustees of the Sinking Fund to be applied by them in the payment of the principal and interest of said bonds in the manner provided by law.

Section 6. The City Auditor is hereby directed to forward a certified copy of this ordinance to the County Auditor.

Section 7. That this ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after the earliest period allowed by law.

Passed in Council this 18th day of December, 1929.

JOHN C. GOELLER, President of Council.

Attest: Fred R. Nicholas, Clerk. Approved December 18, 1929. B. T. HEDGES, Mayor. 40-2t. 235-2t.

Milk Pasteurization

The Department of Agriculture says that the total plant loss in handling milk should not be over 2 per cent. Many plants have it less than 1 per cent. The loss of handling milk through pasteurization depends entirely upon the type of apparatus used. If the vats are not exposed, there should be no loss. If the exposed system is used, the loss should not exceed 1 per cent.

Younger Crowd Is Entertained At Holiday Dance

The picturesque parish house of Circleville's "Little Church Around the Corner" was gaily decorated with ropes of laurel and hung with holly wreaths and mistletoe Monday night for the dance at which Margie Hunsicker, Jinsy Mader, Mary May Haswell, Peggy Courtright, Jeanne Crowe and Harriet Mason were hostesses. Fragrant Christmas trees and evergreen were an important part of the decorations and poinsettia plants bloomed and candles burned in the cathedral windows.

In the dining room small Christmas trees and Christmas candles lighted the table, and the mothers of the hostesses presided at the silver service. The fathers, too, did their share of the serving, and also assisted with the serving of fruit punch which was available to the guests and orchestra during the evening.

PUBLIC DANCE FRIDAY AT ELKS HOME

Tomorrow is the Roundtown Mistletoe dance at the Elks club to which the public is invited and to which tickets can be bought at the door. Circleville seems to have learned years ago that dances here are always "formal, informal" which provincially means that clothes will not make the men nor even yet the women. Everyone is invited to be informal and to be present.

The Elks club has been beautifully decorated, and everything is set for this holiday event, which will begin at 9 o'clock and will end at one. It is the only public dance of the holidays. Tickets may be bought at Dr. G. W. Heffner's office.

W. C. T. U. MEETING FRIDAY NIGHT

The regular meeting of the Circleville Women's Christian Temperance Union will be held Friday evening at the Presbyterian church at 7:30 o'clock. All members are requested to make an effort to be present.
